CITY HANDS KEY TO HUNDREDS OF TEACHERS TODAY

Hundreds of Educators
Make Ada Mecca for Annual Meet.

OKMULGEE IS IN LEAD

Special Coaches Bring 143
From One Town To Meet;
Auditorium Packed.

Nine hundred teachers are in attendance at the East Central Oklahoma Educational association, forming perhaps the biggest convention of its kind ever held in Ada, according to an official report from the Normal this afternoon.

Ada surrendered, street shop and everything, early last night upon the arrival of the first delegations of district teachers here for the annual Convention of the East Central Oklahoma Educational association and today the entire city was being held willing captive of the pedagogic throngs.

Six hundred and twenty-five teachers of the district had registered at East Central Normal shortly before noon Friday and at least 75 more were understood to be in the city but unregistered. A small number is yet to arrive and will reach here this afternoon and tonight from outlying and rural schools in the East Central district.

Okmulgee easily led all towns for size of delegation, a report made by the enrollment committee indicated. A total of 143 Okmulgee educators reached Ada Thursday afternoon in two special coaches which will wait here to take the delegation back Saturday afternoon or night. The group was headed by H. B. Bruner, city superintendent of schools at Okmulgee who will take a prominent part on the convention program. Fourteen others in the delegation from that place are scheduled to appear on the program at some time during the two days and nights.

Okmulgee also is sending eight shop teachers to Tulsa for a vocational conference this week-end. It is understood, and Guy Blakeley, vice principal, will go to Norman to attend a meeting of high school principals of the state.

All schools in Okmulgee were dismissed Thursday and Friday, it is reported, giving way for the various conferences of teachers. Other towns which will be in evidence at the convention here are Henryetta, Holdenville, Pauls Valley, Purcell, Coalgate, Tishomingo, Wagonwheel, Roff, Shawnee, Allen and several speakers will come from other states.

Auditorium Full.

A packed auditorium at East Central Normal greeted Dr. Harry Clark, educational secretary of the Tennessee Baptist Association, who appeared as the principal speaker on the opening program Thursday night. His subject was "Leading the Life Abundant." Dr. Clark appeared again on the program this morning in "Try Smiling," a message teeming with optimism. H. B. Bruner, head of the Okmulgee schools, was to address the convocation this morning on "The Schools of Ten Years Hence." Music for the early program today was furnished by the Girls Chorus of Ada high school, led by Miss Inez Donaldson.

R. H. Wilson, state superintendent of schools, received a big ovation when he appeared before the meeting for an address Friday morning.

The convention this afternoon was to be divided into sections, the first group meeting from 1 to 2:30 and the second from 2:30 to 4 o'clock. A football game at 4 o'clock on the Normal gridiron between Ada high school and the Tishomingo Aggies will be a feature of the late afternoon entertainment accorded the visiting teachers.

J. M. Gwinn, superintendent of public schools of New Orleans, La., in "How Progress is Made in Education," and Former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels in "The Forts of Folly" will be headliners of the convention tonight. A vocal solo will be given tonight by Miss Verne Robertson of Pauls Valley. All sessions are open to the public. Big crowds of local people were in attendance Thursday night.

In County Court.

Charges have been filed recently in the county court against V. T. Attaway, alleging wife abandonment, and D. Lance, alleging transportation of intoxicating liquor.

J. W. Davis was over from Allen this afternoon looking after business matters.

Attention Rebekahs.

The regular meeting of the Ada Rebekah Lodge No. 79 will be held at the I. O. O. F. Hall tonight at 7:30 p. m. Work in the Rebekah degree. All visiting Rebekahs are invited to attend.—Mrs. Dora Bennett, Noble Grand.

Ada Wrestler Will Try Wilburton Man In Handicap Match

Jack Reese, Ada, former middle-weight champion of the world, will meet Jim O'Neil, of Wilburton, in a handicap match tonight at Wilburton, wrestling under the auspices of the American Legion, according to word just received from the Ada, Okla., husky.

In this match, O'Neil agrees to beat Reese two falls in 45 minutes. The Wilburton wrestler won decisions recently over Comettie and Texas and is reputed to be one of the most formidable mat men in this section of the United States. Reese is scarcely recovered from a fractured rib which he sustained in an accident near Chanute, Kansas, recently when the car he was driving turned turtle and pinned him beneath it for several minutes.

Reese will weigh in tonight at 158 and O'Neil at 170 pounds. The Wilburton giant is confident of a decision on the two falls, it is reported.

CITY MADE JOINT PARTY IN CLAIMS

Suit for $10,000 on Boy's
Drowning To Be Heard
In District Court.

A new hearing granted the Ada Country Club and the City of Ada, which have been jointly sued by A. P. Bond for $10,000 in connection with the death of Carl Bond, his 12 year old son who was drowned in the city lake in July, 1918, will come up in district court next Monday, according to an announcement today. On February 14, 1921, the plaintiff was granted a judgment of $500, but the city has been granted a new hearing on its protest to paying the amount.

Evidence brought out in the hearing last February according to City Attorney J. W. Dean, shows that the boy, with another companion, left his home and went to the city lake. There he went in swimming and was drowned. At this time the lake was in charge of the Country Club, to whom it has been leased by the city. In bringing suit against the country club and city, the plaintiff bases his charge on the fact that no watchman was present, although people were allowed to go in bathing, according to attorneys.

The trial has been attracting considerable attention among a wide circle of local people who are concerned. Mayor Kitchens has just returned from Oklahoma City where he served papers on a material witness, whose presence was not obtainable at the first hearing. The case has been pending for more than a year before the first hearing and it has been 10 months before the second hearing could be secured. The city will endeavor to clear itself of all responsibility of the boy's death.

2,000 Teachers Meet At Tulsa on Record Convention Session

(By the Associated Press)
TULSA, Nov. 4.—With the registration today totaling nearly 2,000, the annual convention of the teachers of sixteen counties of northeastern Oklahoma, opened here last night with the largest attendance which ever has been recorded for an opening session.

The question of recommending whether the school levy maximum shall be raised to 20 mills or retained at the 19-mill levy is one of the principal business matters to be considered by the educators here. Departmental sessions of various instruction groups have been planned for the morning and afternoon periods today and tomorrow.

SMOOT PLAN REJECTED IN SENATE FRIDAY

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The Smoot plan for a business sales tax of one-half of one percent on gross sales exceeding $6,000 a year, was rejected Friday by the senate, 46 to 25.

All those supporting this plan were republicans. The democrats voted solidly in opposition and were joined by 22 republicans. This was regarded as ending the efforts to insert a sales tax provision in the pending revenue bill.

JURY VERDICT DELAYED IN IDAHO

(By the Associated Press)
TWIN FALLS, Ida., Nov. 4.—Court did not open at the expected hour of 9:30 this morning in the case of Lydia Mayer Southard, charged with murder of Edward E. Myers. The jury now has been out since 4:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

At midnight last night the members were locked up for the night and permitted to go to bed.

Mrs. J. A. Crews is visiting her nephews and niece, Bryon and Paul Norrell and Mrs. Lura Skinner and their families.

He Is Distinguished Guest of City Today

JOSEPHUS DANIELS

Daniels received little academic education. After finishing high school he entered the college of law at the University of North Carolina and was graduated at the age of 18. Then he began his journalistic career as editor of the Wilson Advance, Wilson, N. C. He was admitted to the bar in 1885 but has spent most of his time in a newspaper office.

At noon Mr. Daniels was entertained by the Lions at a luncheon at the Harris hotel. Immediately after the luncheon, the crowd went to the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, where the distinguished visitor was introduced by Hon. Tom D. McKeown. For fifteen minutes Mr. Daniels spoke on team work and the effect clubs like the Lions are having upon civic pride and civic progress.

In the talk, he touched upon the relation the United States bears to the rest of the world from a standpoint of religion and commerce.

COAL STRIKE IS CALLED TO OPEN ON NOVEMBER 7th

(By the Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Penn., Nov. 4.—The executive board of district No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, at a special meeting here today decided to call a strike at midnight Monday, November 7 in Pittsburgh district. This action was taken after President Robert Gibbons had been notified by R. W. Gardiner, commissioner of the Pittsburgh coal producers association, that the coal operators no longer would continue the "check-off" system.

The president indicated in a telegram to John L. Lewis, international president, last night, that he would recommend a strike at the meeting called for today.

The strike, it was stated, would affect every union mine in districts where operators refuse to continue collection of union dues through the "check-off" system. About 40,000 men in normal times are employed in and around the mines in this district.

Gridsters Hit Hard Sledding With Indians

Several hundred school teachers, high school students, Normal students and local fans were gathered at the Normal field this afternoon to watch Ada high school tackle the Indian eleven from the Tishomingo agricultural school. The local eleven was in good form and their spirits were high as the whistle blew. The game was called at 4 o'clock on account of the program of the teachers meeting not being over until that hour.

A game between the high school freshmen and the Latta consolidated school was played preceding the high school game. The Tishomingo Aggie presented a formidable array for the high school and Coach Cox's men were beginning a stiff battle at press time. Much interest is being shown in this game, as it will to a great extent test Ada school's real strength for the coming conference games.

Dr. T. A. Hill of Roff was an Ada visitor today.

Funeral Services of Baby Who Shot Self Are Conducted Today

Funeral services for little Clarence Parks, two year old son of Mrs. Spence Parks of near Stratford, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Rosedale cemetery. The child was killed yesterday while playing with a shotgun which his brother Haskell Parks, 11, had left laying on the porch on his return from a hunting trip. The baby received the full contents of the discharge in his body and died almost instantly. Reports brought to Ada Thursday were that he was seven years old.

Spence Parks, father of the two boys, died at his home near Stratford early last summer from poisoning. Three Indians, alleged to have been present at a family dinner given by Parks at his home, are held on a charge of murder and will have their preliminary before Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown Monday morning.

PREMIER HOPES TO ATTEND ARMS MEET

Lloyd George May Lead the British Delegation at Washington.

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Premier Lloyd George still has hopes it will be possible to carry out before long his intention of going to Washington and taking the leadership of the British delegation at the armament conference, declared Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the house of commons, today.

Mr. Chamberlain made this declaration in speaking in the debate in the house on the forthcoming conference in the American capital. The debate was opened when John Robert Clynes moved the resolution introduced by himself in association with the other labor leaders, reading:

"That this house warmly approve of the meeting of the international conference at Washington and trust that a supreme effort will be made to arrive at such agreement of armaments as will secure a substantial and progressive reduction of the crushing burden of armaments."

Mr. Clynes explained that his motion was not offered with any idea of raising a harmful controversy and in his remarks he avoided all reference to the policies which might be discussed at the conference, confining his speech to the most part to a general dissertation on disarmament.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The house of commons today unanimously adopted the motion presented by labor members, "warmly approving" the approaching Washington conference on the limitation of armaments and far eastern questions. The vote came after two and a half hours of discussion in which numerous speakers supported the resolution and voiced hopes of the conference's success.

FIRST "SICK MAN" PERMIT ON BEER GRANTED FRIDAY

Before the distribution of medicinal beer to the sick can begin, Commissioner Haynes explained, both physicians and druggists must obtain new permits to enable them to prescribe and sell it. Applications for these permits, he added, are made to the state director and are issued by him.

In connection with prescription for beer, Mr. Haynes added, a point yet to be decided is whether a physician is limited to the 100 prescriptions every three months as is now the rule, or whether under the new rule, he is entitled to more prescriptions for beer.

NANCE OIL WELL SHOWN PRODUCER IN RECENT FLOW

Pump to Be Used When Gas
Fails to Throw Fluid
Up Naturally.

MISSED FIRST SAND

Experts Surprised As Drill
Goes on Past Point of Proved Formation.

Oil sounds good, doesn't it? Well, it's here.

The Nance well is a good producer. There is no longer any doubt of that fact, according to information given out by those interested. This well in section 4-4-5, near Bebee, flowed six inches, or approximately forty barrels Thursday evening as soon as the tubing was in place. There is not enough gas to keep the flow up and a pump will be installed.

A new band wheel must be put on the machinery, and the pump may not be at work before Monday. Estimates by those who have been keeping in touch with the well place the production from 200 to 300 barrels. The oil is about 40 degrees gravity, which under normal circumstances ought to bring a good premium.

This well has been the center of much interest for weeks. All were expecting it to come in strong when it reached 1750 feet, for that was the depth the discovery well in section 32-5-5 picked up the pay sand. But Nance well missed that sand entirely, indicating that the discovery well was an edge well, oil men say.

Drilling on down, the operators went into a time formation which carried oil. It is from this time formation that the oil is coming.

After the well had been shot with 200 quarts of nitroglycerine and cleaned out, it made several natural flows, though the gas has been weak all along. It was still flowing when the drillers left last evening, but was not flowing today. Arrangements are being made to install the pump immediately.

Discovery Well

The discovery well of the Carter-Lowry syndicate in section 32-5-5 will be drilled deeper into the sand. When a News reporter was in the field this morning, the derrick was being strengthened in preparation for the work.

This well reached only a short distance into the sand, as the field was new and drilling deeper was taking chances. When the offset well, however, picked up 28 feet of sand, it was decided to drill the discovery well further into the sand. This well has been on the pump for several weeks, and the oil is used as fuel.

Carter Lowry Offset

The Carter-Lowry offset to the discovery well, in section 4-4-5 is undermining for the eight inch casing. When this is set, the hole will be cleaned out. Two joints of casing are reported to have been shot off by the shot in the hole several days ago. The well is approximately 1770 feet.

John Dixon's Daughter

By ROSE MEREDITH

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Miss Mamie Smith left the post office and stepped down the village street with eager feet. Her faded eyes were fixed on Emeline Taylor's little brown house, and with the enthusiasm of the born gossip she was picturing the cozy warmth of Mrs. Taylor's sitting room, and hoping that the old lady was all alone.

"I've got to know about this postal card—she's so close-mouthed, it's a wonder she would let me stop for her mail. But I suppose Mittle Weed can't be trusted, she's such a feather-headed piece to take care of a sick woman, if it is only rheumatiz!" Her thin, pink nose quivered like an agitated rabbit's as she went into the yard and around the path to the side door entrance, where glass doors led into a neatly furnished sitting room where a white-haired woman sat in a deep cushioned chair.

"Well, Emeline, here I be, faithful as ever," greeted Miss Mamie as she opened the door and walked in. Her sharp eyes darted to the kitchen beyond, where Mittle Weed was clattering around in a heedless way, leaving untidiness behind her and creating agony in the soul of Emeline Taylor, the neatest housekeeper in the whole county.

"It's real good of you, Mamie," said the sick woman gratefully. "Some day I'm going to make it all right with you for all your kindness."

"I don't want anything," assured Miss Mamie, turning very red. "I'm always glad to do something for a sick neighbor, and you know I live next door. The 'Weekly Times,' a letter from Robin and a postcard—there, that's a nice bunch!"

Mrs. Taylor smiled in a tight-lipped way as she took the letters in her swollen hands. "Thank you, Mamie," she said quietly.

Miss Mamie's face fell. "Ain't you going to read Robin's letter? I'll be looking at the paper a minute and maybe there's some news you'd want to tell me."

Tossed It Into the Coal Hod.

"He is so busy—traveling most of the time—he doesn't have time to write much," defended Robin Taylor's mother.

"I expect his wife travels with him," ventured Mamie.

"Possibly," said Mrs. Taylor crisply.

Mamie rose to go. "I thought maybe they'd be coming down here."

"Some day," and Mrs. Taylor turned her head toward the kitchen. "You can make me some toast, Mittle," she called.

"Well, good-by," said Mamie, as she went out through the glass door into the pleasant old garden, neglected now that Robin was away and his mother was tied to her chair. The whole village knew more about her affairs than Emeline Taylor suspected.

They knew, somehow, that Robin had telephoned home from Chicago that he was going to marry "Doreen," and they knew that Mrs. Taylor had telegraphed him not to do it—and Robin had married the city girl; and although three months had passed his mother refused to forgive him or to see the young couple. He didn't even know that his mother was crippled with rheumatism, for she wrote to him faithfully every week, acknowledging receipt of the check he regularly sent her, though she never cashed the checks and never mentioned the name of Robin's unknown wife in her letters.

Lately she had formed the habit of putting his letters away unopened. The fact that he could write meant that he was well. Now she kissed his letter passionately and put it away with the others, but the postcard she looked at with interest. It showed the New York Botanical Gardens, and off on the sky line was an arrow in ink.

"We are keeping house here—you must come down and stay with us. Love to you, Doreen."

The arrow pointed to a tall apartment house.

"Sending her love to me," sobbed Emeline Taylor angrily as she tore the postal in two and tossed it into the coal hod by the drum stove.

"Mittle, is tea ready?"

Mittle Weed came scuffling her feet while her dark eyes, scanning the room, discovered the agitated face of her mistress, the unread letter clutched in her hand and the torn postcard in the coal hod. In a trice Mittle had moved a small mahogany stand beside the big chair, placed the little tray, with its steaming pot of tea, its plate of hot toast and dish of quince jelly, deftly spread a damask napkin over Mrs. Taylor's folded hands, uncovered the sugar bowl and cream jug, and, picking up the coal hod, vanished into the kitchen.

Here, alone, she drew out the torn postal and studied it with pitying eyes. "That girl ought to be here looking out for his ma! If I had a mother-in-law—!" Mittle wagged her untidy head and pulled some letter paper from a corner cupboard.

Ten days later Mittle startled Mrs. Taylor by giving notice and leaving at once. "You can easily get some one else, Miss Taylor," said the girl, stubbornly, when her employer protested that she could not stay alone. "I know a girl who would come and live with you."

"Who is she?" snapped the old lady.

Mittle didn't hear. "I'll send her around tonight, Miss Taylor," and the door closed behind her.

"Ingratitude," muttered Emeline Taylor as she sat there alone, helplessly bound to her chair.

At 5 o'clock came a knock at the door.

"Come in," she quavered.

A girl came in. She was not very tall nor so very pretty, but she had a fresh, colorful face, with bright brown eyes and ruddy brown hair; her pretty hands were capable looking and her dress was neat and dainty.

"Mittle Weed said you wanted some one to help you," she began. "I am not afraid of hard work."

Emeline Taylor smiled in a wintry way. "You look as though you would be pleasant to have around—but, what is your name?"

"I am John Dixon's daughter," said the girl slowly. "My father calls me Johnny."

"John Dixon's daughter?" Mrs. Taylor regarded her curiously, dreamily. With the name came echoes of a girlhood romance, the smell of day lilies drenched with dew, the sound of a whip-poor-will, a man's deep sigh—that was all. "John Dixon's daughter"—that had always been of Dixon as a very prosperous farmer—why did his daughter go out to work?

"Would you care to have me stay?" asked the girl.

"Yes—I am all alone," admitted the older woman bitterly.

A week later Mrs. Taylor was feeling better—so much better she could forgive Robin's marriage—so she took out all his unread letters and perused them. When she finished the last one, she looked closely at the tiny photograph it contained. Then her eyes lifted to the serene face of John Dixon's daughter, who was sewing in the sunny window.

"Doreen!" she said softly.

The girl looked up guiltily. "Oh—you know," she breathed. "I had to come after Mittle wrote to me and said you were ill and alone—we did not know—and I have taken your only son away from you, and I hoped you would learn to love me—"

Mrs. Taylor's arms were around the slender young form. "I need you, my daughter," she whispered, "and I need Robin—and poor Mittle in the kitchen. I need you all!"

In some unaccountable manner Miss Mamie Smith took the entire credit for the reconciliation.

Pigs Mothered by Hen.

An account of strange adoption comes from an Alberta (Canada) reader. He says that a hen on his deceased brother's farm in Ontario adopted some young pigs. The sow had farrowed in one end of a log barn to which she had access, and close to a hen that was sitting on some rotten eggs. After the little pigs came, some of them used to crawl under the hen for warmth, so she seemed to think the whole bunch were as much her's as the sow's. She would go around with them during the day and when night came would sit on as many as she could cover. It was amusing to watch her antics after the pigs grew too big for her mothering instinct.

Feed Garden Plants.

If your garden was not made very rich at planting time, feed it as you go along. This is easily done by scattering commercial fertilizer between the rows and working it into the soil with a hoe or rake. The rain will soon wash it down to the roots. There is less waste by this method than when all the fertilizer is applied early in the spring, and the plants respond quickly. Use a balanced fertilizer for most crops, but nitrate of soda for lettuce and other leafy vegetables. Take care, however, that it does not come in contact with the plants themselves, for it will burn them.

Introducing a New Practice.

The Professor—After your motion for a new trial has been denied what is the next step to take? The Pretty Girl Student—I'd cry a little.

"They say Flubdub is a pretty square lawyer."

"Yes, he will allow you a fair share of any money you have coming to you."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Our Sewer System and Sewage Disposal.

(By William Whitaker)

In order to understand better the general layout of Ada's sewer system, we will give a flow line description, commencing with laterals or smallest lines which are followed by connecting lines called mains and trunk lines.

The above constitute the collecting and conveying system which deliver the refuse matter to the sewage disposal place, the same being located south of Frisco and west of the Katy main line tracks.

This location will naturally some day, and that not very distant, be the logical wholesale business center of the city. As the situation now stands the city of Ada is rapidly building around and close up to its disposal plant. Can any more unsightly, illogical, unhealthy condition be imagined?

Returning to our subject, we find the sewage intake is guarded by an iron grating through which all the matter passes on its way to the turnoff tank which in reality is a digester. The lower section of this is absolutely dark. In this compartment the sewage is digested and destroyed by means of minute germs the solids are broken down. The liquids pass to contact beds, which to the observer would appear to be really large filter beds. A chemical action takes place here and the liquids, when discharged, are inert or harmless.

The process operates mechanically by means of self operating trips or valves and certain other mechanical devices using four contact beds for one imhoff tank. In other words this is a continuous process. As the liquids pass out of and from the contact beds they enter the out fall line leading the inert or harmless matter in liquid form, down stream for some distance.

The solid or non-liquid heavy matter is digested or destroyed, broken down in the imhoff tank. A stated period the indigestible in these tanks is passed on to sludge beds where in turn the residue having been found to consist principally of paper, can and should be burned. The about gives a general idea of how the city of Ada's sewage is disposed of.

There are two principal trunk lines supplying the disposal plant. Each line is 15 inches in diameter, one leading west and in conjunction with a 12-inch secondary main on Cherry Street between sixth and twelfth streets. These by means of laterals collect the sewage from all that portion of Ada, north of the Frisco tracks, all territory south of the Frisco tracks and west of Broadway. This district is well supplied with sewers with the following exceptions: That portion of north-west Ada, north of Eighth street, sewers having been installed in only two alleys in the whole territory Broadway addition has no sewers laid.

The other 15-inch trunk line sewer leading south, handles all of that territory south of the Frisco track and east of Broadway.

Attention is called to the following: the south east corner of Belmont addition and for a distance of a block and a half each side of the Katy tracks and south of Fourteenth street, a few lots north and east from the East Central Normal building, and the southeast corner of Chickasaw addition. These cannot be reached by our present sewer system, as the territory is too low for gravity flow to the disposal plant.

As now operated there are two imhoff tanks, four contact beds, and one sludge bed, constituting one complete system. In addition to the above, one additional imhoff tank is in operation.

For a distance of four blocks in each direction from the disposal plant the two 15-inch trunk or main line sewers are too small in diameter. The 12-inch secondary main on Cherry is also too small. The two 15-inch mains referred to are laid in creek or branch bottoms. During wet weather much surface water enters these mains on account of defective jointing material, or no jointing material. These lines have settled where they pass under the railroad fills.

One month was spent by an expert and assistant, inspecting, testing and ferreting out irregularities, and correcting many of the conditions found in the connecting of sewer lines. Rainwater was found entering directly into manholes—down spouts connected to sewers. All sorts of inconceivable conditions were found. A full and complete report conveying conditions with recommendations was made by the engineers and handed to our commissioners for their guidance.

In addition to above Mr. Darlington, resident engineer for Benham & Mullengren, engineers of Kansas City, has done much original work of investigating and inspection, having been on the ground during not less than fifteen heavy rains. During these observations many items of interest were discovered and corrected.

Many corrections to sewer lines from private lines are poorly made and owing to lack of inspection these connections are in many instances not made in accordance with city ordinances. Ground water enters these connections adding to the already surcharged trunk lines in carrying capacity. As to the manner of proper connecting private lines to sewers and location of same this information can be had by application to the proper city commissioner.

It is a certainty that many roots have entered the 15-inch mains through the joints in piping or sewer lines, and these roots retard the flow under all conditions. When heavy rains occur and the lines are running full, much of the obstructing material is destroyed and carried forward in large quantities, all within a short period of time, thus clogging up the entrance grate, etc., causing all sorts of conditions to follow.

The citizenship of Ada could, if it would, greatly assist this particular department of the city government. To say the citizenship of Ada should be better educated to their requirements places the matter mildly before them. Some definite steps should be taken to free the sewer system of some of the foreign matter delivered to the disposal plant. Its not uncommon to see fluid refuse matter from kitchens, egg shells, shuff boxes, socks, stockings, towels, handkerchiefs, large quantities of childrens stockings, whole suits of underwear, in fact anything you could mention and many things you couldn't ever conceive of—all are delivered to the sewage disposal plant.

All of the above are placed in the sewer by a knowing, intelligent public and the abuse should be discontinued.

For the edification of those who do not find time to investigate, a accomplished or done with the money voted by the citizenship of Ada for an additional Disposal Unit."

The following were installed according to plans and estimates as laid down by the engineers: A 21-inch outfall sewer line leading from contact beds to a distance down stream from beds in question, trunk line sanitary sewers, storm sewer on Cherry street, Frisco railroad, south to a point between Twelfth and Thirteenth street; two sections of storm sewer near Katy Depot; a sludge bed using the site of the original septic tank, this to complete No. 1 system; an tuchoff tank, sphin, and concrete central distributing chamber for four contact beds, controlling valves not set in position.

Excavation for contact beds, I believe was completed. The reason these beds were not completed as well as sludge bed, etc., was because of the fact that the funds were used up on an excavation for the tuchoff tank and contact beds.

The engineers not being able to see ten to fifteen feet under the ground and no funds being available for testing out this territory, the only alternative was to use the data on hand concerning the excavation for the system adjoining. This was done. As is customary in all contracts covering such work, a certain price per cubic yard was set for earth excavation and another price for rock excavation. It was found that after a few feet of top soil was removed, rock was encountered reaching down to bottom of the tuchoff tank. Another condition was found, called pack sand. This was hard sand rock in places. When drilled and shot with dynamite it had to be excavated at once, or it would settle back perfectly solid. I have seen it when it had to be drilled and shot two or three times, as it had settled down tight before it could be excavated.

Here is where the money was spent and I feel absolutely safe in saying that every cent spent was accounted for as having gone for conditions encountered that were unforeseen and unavoidable.

It is quite apparent that the unfinished condition of the sewage disposal plant should be completed, and leaky main sewers, enlarged and relaid at the earliest opportunity. This is for the safety of the health of the community at large, and it might be added the sewage disposal system should be removed from the city limits.

It is quite apparent from every angle of observation, for the correct and systematic operation of each and every item, certain departments of city government are needed. A city engineer would place Ada in line with good business management. As it now stands it is a hap-hazard, happy-go-lucky system. Ada is growing, let her grow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Attorneys for the United Mine Workers of America today filed in the federal circuit court of appeals a petition for an appeal from the injunction issued by Judge A. B. Leavening Strength Tells the Story

The price you pay for baking powder doesn't determine the results you will have on bake day—it's the leavening strength that counts.

You may buy a baking powder for less than Calumet and think you are practicing economy. Don't be misled—the bakings you spoil will make those that are successful exorbitant in cost.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

has successfully proven, during the past thirty years, that it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength. That's why bakings where it is employed never fail to raise properly.

Calumet is used by more housewives, leading chefs, domestic scientists, restaurants, hotels and railroads than any other brand. Millions buy it—you should try it.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

WILSON IS GIVEN HEARTY OVATION

State Superintendent Tells of Rapid Strides Made in Education.

Faculty men of East Central Teachers' College, entertained a number of business men of Ada and teachers of the East Central district at a banquet Thursday evening at the Home Dining Room in honor of Hon. R. H. Wilson of Oklahoma City, state superintendent of schools. Judge Tom D. McKeown was toastmaster and kept the crowd at attention by his ready wit and brilliant introductions.

Dr. A. Linseheid, president of the college, informed the attendants that the banquet had been given to allow the business men of Ada an opportunity to meet distinguished educators of this district, to give the educators an opportunity to get acquainted with a live and progressive citizenship of Ada, and to give both an opportunity to meet "the greatest superintendent of public instruction in America."

Robert Wimblish expressed the delight of citizens of Ada to meet the live school men of this section and complimented them on the progress they have made in recent times. It was his opinion that business men and school men derive mutual benefit from meeting and talking over their problems. When a vote recently was taken on the most valuable man in Ada, the choice went to a school man and not a captain of industry. He took a shot at what we generally term a "politician" and paid a glowing tribute to Hon. R. H. Wilson.

H. G. Faust, superintendent of schools at Shawnee, said Arkansas is a great state, that it took a school man and made him governor, and inferred that Oklahoma will do likewise.

Harry Clark, secretary of the Board of Education of the Tennessee Baptist association, thrilled the audience with a short talk on what constitutes real wealth. He said it is not natural resources but men. "Leadership, and not mines and factories, builds cities and states," he said.

Prof. J. D. Elliott, inspector of high schools for the University of Missouri, said teachers are losing their timidity and are learning to do team work, two very great essentials.

Hon. R. H. Wilson was introduced as probably the next governor of Oklahoma. He told what has been done in ten years in the educational life of Oklahoma, surprising even the school men themselves with his marvelous story. He gave his remedy for better education and what will mean most for the boys and girls of the state. He referred only indirectly to his race for the democratic nomination for governor. He steered clear of a political speech but went deep into the educational problems of today.

MAUD PUTS SKIDS UNDER ALLEN MEN

Hustlers Unable To Keep Early Lead and Taste Defeat, 36-13.

Maud high school trounced the Allen Hustlers on the Normal grid-iron Thursday afternoon in well-contested game by a score of 36-13. Allen scored twice in the first quarter, taking an early lead, but the Maud team men came back and put things even before the whistle blew for the end of the quarter.

Hickerson, the fast quarterback on the Maud squad, carried the ball for long gains and to him goes credit for four of Maud's five touchdowns. His speed and ability at broken field running was a feature of the game, and he seldom failed to get a good gain on an end run.

Allen could not gain on a line plunge as the Maud line was too strong for them. The game was featured by fast running on both back fields. Maud gained persistently on long end runs, passes and line bucks, while Allen resorted to passes and end runs to gain. Occasional long gains by the Allen backs made the game interesting and kept the Maud squad from piling up a larger score.

Disch, Maud left end, kicked for the Maud squad, thrice putting the ball between the bars for touchdowns, and once kicking a clean field goal.

The line-up: Maud Disch, LE, Allen Lovin; Powell, LT, Wallace; Felder, LG, Carson; Acree, C, Wilbank; Woods, RG, Donaghey; Martin, RT, Justis; Phillips, RE, Hutchinson; Hickerson, QB, Call; O'See, RH, Keener; Cooper, LB, Isaac; Burton, LH, Isaac. Substitutions: Maud, Hartoon for Powell, Powell for Phillips, Barrow for Hartoon.

Touchdowns: Hickerson 4, O'Gee Lovin 2, Field goal Disch, Longest run, Call for sixty-five yards on kick-off.

GOTCHER TO QUIT PLACE AS CHIEF?

Committee Confers Today With Mayor On Change in the Force.

The resignation of Chief of Police J. P. Gotcher, veteran officer of Ada, was understood to have been asked for this morning when a committee of ten citizens called upon Mayor Gary Kitchens and was in conference with him for almost an hour.

This request was said to have come not as a result of anything Chief Gotcher had done or had not done but merely as a step to relieve him of embarrassment which the committee said had been thrust upon him by recent court difficulties with which his son was connected. Mayor Kitchens made practically no statement in connection with the interview he had with the committee other than to comment upon the character of the chief of police who, he declares, is one of the straightest and cleanest men in this part of the state.

It was intimated at the city hall today that Chief Gotcher has talked with Mayor Kitchens regarding the advisability of his resignation and is now said to be considering seriously taking such a step.

"I have known and been intimately associated with J. P. Gotcher for more than three years and I absolutely know he is as square and honest as any man in the state," Mayor Kitchens said. "The committee did not attack him in any way nor have I heard anyone question the value of his services as chief. It will be a distinct loss to the police force if he leaves."

"TRY SMILING" IS PREVAILING NOTE

Speakers Urge Importance of Optimism in Every School Room.

Insisting upon the use of optimism as the philosophy of life, Dr. Harry Clark of Nashville, Tenn., educational secretary of the Tennessee Baptist association, poured out an enthusiastic address to a packed house as the East Central Educational association hit into full swing at the Normal auditorium this morning.

Features of the program before noon Friday were addresses by Dr. Clark, Supt. R. H. Wilson, Miss Loiselle of Okmulgee, and choruses by the girls of Henryetta and Ada.

Dr. Clark's subject was "Try Smiling." There is no place for the frown and the world has no patience with the pessimists who insist that the world is going to the dogs, he said. "If the water is muddy remember that running water purifies itself."

He contrasted conditions educationally, physically and morally with those of the past and maintained that a great advance has been made. Even religiously the country is improving, he stated, declaring that signs point to a great revival everywhere.

Schools Need Attention.
Supt. Wilson spoke on the need of recognition in school work from the bottom of the profession to the top, laying particular stress on the state teachers' association which he hoped to see a splendid body 16,000 strong acting as a unit. He recalled the first state meeting which took place in 1906 at Shawnee, the Indian Territory and Oklahoma organizations merging at that time. He asked how many were present on that occasion and twenty or thirty hands went up. He next asked how many had not missed a meeting since. Only Supt. Hefley of Henryetta and Supt. A. Floyd of Pontotoc county could qualify in this, upon which he declared them the deans of the association.

He laid considerable stress on the county and district meetings and urged teachers to make the attendance on the county meetings 100 per cent. Mr. Wilson made a strong appeal to make the school house the social center and mentioned several places whereby tending a room to the patrons as a meeting place for their various clubs and activities a deeper interest has been taken in the schools.

"Get the fathers and mothers acquainted with your school," he advised. He urged all superintendents to refuse to permit the employment of incompetent teachers, as such a course would eventually do great damage to the schools and also to the reputation of the superintendents themselves. In this connection he spoke of the necessity of refusing recognition to the work done in such schools and insisted that they be brought up to the standard.

Bruner Is Absent.
Supt. Bruner of Okmulgee was unable to be present on account of illness, but his place was filled by Miss Loiselle of Okmulgee. This lady read an able paper on the schools of the future and in this connection gave her views on imperfections in the present school system and some changes that must be made. Chief among these is a reform in the system of grading by which pupils will be classified according to their ability and not put together, as at present, without reference to their talents. In this way the brighter pupils will not be held back and the slower ones can make better progress by being kept together at a pace suited to their mental capacity. She predicted that the schools of tomorrow will provide broadening courses which will make the curriculum more practical and give the pupils a better foundation, thus fitting them better for citizenship.

At the conclusion of the program President Pearl Bradfield announced the appointment of a committee on resolutions composed of H. G. Faust of Shawnee, R. P. Hughes, Paula Valley; A. Linscheid, Ada; Mae Noble, Okemah and F. L. Stewart, Okmulgee. An auditing committee composed of H. P. Butcher, W. A. Ingle and A. B. Herring was also appointed.

After adjournment the teachers from the various counties met and selected a member of the nominating committee that will propose names of the next set of officers of the association and a member of the state council. The nominating committee will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WHERE THE LIGHTNING STRUCK

Vera always thought it was foolish to be afraid. She was not afraid of anything. She was not even afraid of lightning. She was not even afraid of being out in a thunder and lightning storm.

Now her sister Dora was very different. Dora was afraid of a number of things. She was afraid of lightning more than of anything else. "I think you're too fearless, Vera," Dora would often say. "You don't take enough care. You'll be in an accident some day."

And Vera would laugh and say, "Oh Dora, what a cheerful person you are!"

"Very well," Dora would answer, "but it makes me nervous the way you are. Why the other day in the city you wouldn't hurry when that great big automobile came rushing down the avenue."

"I knew that they weren't going out of their way to run me down," Vera would always reply. "You are constantly speaking of that too."

To tell the truth Dora worried a good deal over Vera for she felt she would always be so fearless that she might not be on the look-out to avoid being hurt.

Vera was rather proud of herself. She was different from Dora. She was so different from many who were afraid.

It was one day when Vera and Dora were far out in the country walking that a horrible thunder and lightning storm came up with a great and sudden rush.

"Oh dear," said Dora, "that thunder is so awful."

"Thunder can't do any harm," said Vera.

"I know that but those great peals and roars of thunder mean lightning too, for thunder and lightning are very nearly inseparable friends. It makes me so nervous."

"Oh, see that fork of lightning! Oh, it is going to be a terrible storm."

"Well," said Vera, "I don't propose to get my new shoes and my second-best hat and my every-day dress soaked even if they're not all my very best. I say we stand under that enormous tree over yonder."

And Vera pointed to a great tree. "We won't get wet there."

"Oh no," said Dora, "it is better to get wet. Much, much better. Our clothes are of no importance beside safety. Let's stay out where there are no trees—right in the middle of this field."

"We Won't Get Wet."

"We could find a dry place in the woods I'm sure," said Vera, "and it doesn't look as though it would be a long storm. The rain is beginning and the drops are very big."

"But don't you know that it is more dangerous to stand under a tree than anywhere else?" Dora said.

"Pooh," said Vera. "Only 'fraid cats think that. And I guess if I stand under that great tree I couldn't very well be hurt." She pointed to the big tree in the field. And started to go toward it.

"Oh please," sobbed Dora, "if you are not afraid, for my sake stay with me in the open. Please, sister. Please!"

Now Vera did not like Dora for behaving as she did and for spilling their walk by making them get wet when it wasn't necessary in the least. But she hadn't the heart to go against her when she felt so about it.

So out in the field they stayed while the rain poured down, the lightning flashed and the thunder rumbled in its great deep way.

Suddenly something seemed to strike. Had they been struck? With beating hearts they looked at each other and moved their heads and arms to make sure they were alive.

Yes, they were alive, but the lightning had hit the great tree. It had merely knocked them down but had not struck them as they were sufficiently far away from the tree.

There before them was the tree, broken right in the center, slashed and killed by the dangerous power of the lightning.

"Oh Dora," Vera said, as she put her arm around her sister, "you have saved my life by having the bravery to be afraid of things that are really dangerous. My dear brave sister."

And Dora's heart rejoiced. Yes, she had saved her sister and she knew that in the future Vera would not be frighteningly careless!

And then too she had been called brave. That made up for all the times she had been called a 'fraid cat. Yes, it made up for every, every time!

CO-OPERATIVE MARKET WORKED TO SUCCESS

HOBART, Nov. 4.—Co-operative marketing is the best paying system in Kiowa county, according to Dan Diehl, district agent for the extension department of the Oklahoma A and M college, and the farmers of Hobart have voted $5,000 to improve the co-operative grain elevator there for the coming year.

At a meeting held here this week by members of the co-operative association a patronage dividend of $5,000 was declared on last year's business after all running expenses were deducted, and the money was apportioned paid each member and stockholder.

One farmer with a $25 share received a $70 check, representing a profit over expenses of handling his crop, according to Agent Diehl.

The actual profit made above expenses was $10,000 by the one elevator, according to its books, one half going to the patronage dividend and the other half toward improvement of the plant for the coming year. This is the first year of the elevator's expenses.

Spanish Licorice Industry.
The manufacture of licorice extract and paste is an important Spanish industry. This is a comparatively new industry, as formerly the root was exported manufactured. Over 6,000,000 pounds of the root were exported in 1918 and more than 600,000 pounds of extract and paste.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Perfectly Clear.
We have to thank a cheerful dean for this little bit of society letter writing by a clergyman who took the wrong hat away from last night's party: "Mr. A presents his compliments to Mr. B and he has a hat which isn't mine. So if you have a hat that isn't his doubtless they are the ones."—Sketch.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage is attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. (adv)

"Only another Buick can ever satisfy a Buick owner"

"I HAVE owned seventeen Buicks," says Dr. Victor L. Garbutt, Detroit. "During all the years I have driven a Buick I have never had to walk home. And that's going some. I doubt if there is another car on the market that would have given me such service and I know of no car that would have given me better."

There are doctors in this community and many others who use Buicks exclusively because they know Buick never fails.

VANOSS.

School has started! We are glad to get back in the harness again. Our school attendance is over 400 and we think it will be even higher.

Hallowe'en was not celebrated as boisterously as is usual, but a few tricks were played in town. There were two parties in town, one given at the home of Miss Ida Standridge and the other given at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Coffee.

Everyone enjoyed themselves. Mrs. Maggie Turner and daughter Francis White, have moved back to Vanoss.

Mrs. V. B. Lynn returned to her home in Anadarko, Tuesday. She has been visiting her friends and relatives here.

Oscar Wilson came home Monday. He returned to Oklahoma City Tuesday.

Mrs. Ed. Walker died last Thursday evening about 8 o'clock, with typhoid fever. Mrs. Walker left a husband and two small children.

Chas. L. Berger is again able to be up, although he still looks weak. The Missionary Baptist people will start their revival here next Saturday night. Everybody's help is solicited.

A report has been circulated that that is a great deal of scarlet fever around here. The report is false, as there is only one case in the whole neighborhood. The one case is little David Watters, who is said to be improving.

Frank and Luther Lynn are here visiting their parents, Mrs. and Mr. J. H. Lynn.

Little Willie Shaw had his eye put out last week.

Mrs. J. J. Shaw is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Henry Eaves, at Stratford, who is reported to be ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. John Cissna is visiting her parents, Mrs. and Mr. Charles Woods, this week.

Mrs. and Mr. McKline have moved back to Vanoss. Their granddaughter, Miss Mary Bottoms, is staying with them, going to school here.

Center.

Bro. Fox, the Methodist preacher has been holding a meeting at Vanoss. That is why there was no preaching Saturday night, Sunday or Sunday night.

Misses Lois and Vera Williams from Ada were visiting friends here last week-end.

Mr. Rucker and family have moved up close to Sapulpa. We people at Center regret their moving because we realized that they were one of the leading families of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Rader from Oklahoma City were the week-end guests at Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Copeland's last week.

Dr. Vandell, who has been attending a series of debates has returned home.

Alma Medlock, who has been attending the normal, is home to begin her school at Union Hill.

The high school boys and the town boys had a real interesting game of basketball at the school building Friday afternoon.

The town boys defeated the school boys by one score. We say hurrah for the boys if they are small.

Misses Neomah and Isabelle Eddings left Sunday afternoon to attend school at Vanoss.

Ula Morrison from Wilson is staying with her brother, Edgar Morrison and going to school here.

Prayer meeting did very well Wednesday night, but the people are not taking as much interest as they should. We hope that they will wake up to their duties as Christians.

CHEMIST WINS LASTING GRATITUDE

"I tried several doctors and all kinds of medicine, and had about given up all hope of getting better. Pain In Muscles And Joints Caused By Rheumatism

SENATE TO PROBE WATSON CHARGES

Georgia Man Promises He Will Bring Soldier and Back Up Statement.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—A new resolution ordering a special committee to investigate charges of Senator Watson, democrat, Georgia, regarding treatment of privates in the American expeditionary forces, was adopted by a unanimous vote today by the senate after a two hour's wrangle.

The senate also adopted unanimously another resolution by Senator Brandegee, republican, Connecticut, authorizing the committee to subpoena witnesses and documents but left unsettled the question as to the exact charges of Senator Watson which were to be investigated.

Senator Watson told the senate today that his charges that 21 American soldiers had been hanged in France without trial has been based on statements of a soldier who said he had seen the gallows and had been told by the gallows guard that this number of men had been hanged.

The Georgia senator presented the basis of his charges during another period of heated debate on the subject. He read telegrams from this soldier, whose name was not disclosed, saying that the gallows was at Gievres, France, and that the guard had told him that others were to be hanged on it.

Will Produce Proof.

"That's the number I said," declared Senator Watson, referring to the number mentioned in the telegram. "That is the information on which I base my statements."

The Georgia senator declared that this soldier, who, he said, had served four years in the army, "would face the senators and answer any question as bravely as he faced the Germans."

Senator Watson said he was fighting a "military clique, the Prussian system," and that "we have now reached the point in military where it is a crime to criticize the army," which he said, was the stage "Germany had reached before the breaking out of the war."

Senator Watson then proceeded to read letters and other documents with reference to the alleged hanging of soldiers, which, he said, in numbers, "long since had passed the fingers of the one hand of the senator from New York (Senator Wadsworth), or near the figures of Secretary Weeks, and soon will reach the figures I gave."

Branded as Untrue.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 4.—General Pershing declared here today that charges brought in the senate by Senator Watson were "the most outrageous and untrue foundation." accusations that could possibly be made and were absolutely without

CAPITOL HAWK ENDS HUNTING DAY IN STATE

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 4.—The hunting days of the Capital Hawk are at an end, unless somewhere in the mystic vale into which all hawks fly after the earthly spirit has departed to a happy hunting ground has been provided for the Capital Hawk chased on too many 'cotton tails' through the billowy grasses on the state capitol lawn, and a capitol caretaker ended the rabbit's persecution through accurate use of his shot-gun.

At the foggy mist of late afternoon was clearing away at twilight, the race which has become a daily event in the lives of capitol dwellers was started. Darting through and around the shrubbery and tall grass on the statehouse grounds, the rabbit tried in vain to elude his pursuer, and it seemed that the end of the chase had come.

It had. Concealed at the corner of the east wing of the building, a caretaker arose, and as the hawk swooped down, the gun spoke and the hawk's chase was ended.

"Gee, they're shooting ducks on the capitol lawn," remarked the capitol-dwellers, placing a wrong interpretation on the figure of a hunter in their midst. But the rabbit knew what had happened.

When Columbus sailed westward all of Europe beyond Breslau to the east was a wilderness.
